MARRIAGE BOND LOOSENING, SIGN GOD FORGOTTEN

TACOMA BOY, DOCTOR'S BOY, IS KIDNAPPED

named for payment of the money. The masked intruder broke into the living room, searched the chidren for money, found none, then, without a word, left.

"This is something better than money."

He threw the note to the doctor, dashed into his arms and fled toward the waterfront through the same French window by which he entered.

Charles' sister, Muriel, 14, and her friend, Virginia Chaffield of Seattle, were at the window to port near the window when the man first appeared. William Mattson, 16, who had been seated in a chair at the end of the room with his back to the window, heard the steps and ran wearing night clothes and a light tan coat.

The children said the man's mask slipped from his face while he was in the room, enabling them to see he had a mustache and a very heavy beard. They described him as slightly built, middle-aged, possibly about 40 years old, wearing a blue jacket and a light tan coat.

Search turned to the waterfront, but there was no sign of the kidnapper. The $50,000 residence overlooks the waterfront and boats and 300 feet to the down a steep terrace.

MAN IN GARAGE

The family said Dr. Mattson arrived a man in his garage more than half an hour later. He had a packed medical kit missing. William Mattson asserted the kidnapper was a man of means, probably the influence of either alcohol or drugs.

The Mattsons' home is only a few blocks from that of the grandadviser, whose $200,000 son was kidnapped in 1935, was the last one of nine cases of kidnapping in the United States. The lumber fortune heir was released unharmed after he ransom was paid and his three kidnappers now are serving long prison terms.

DEAD RABBIT

The children said the instructions were included in the note left by the kidnapper when he abducted Charles' mother, Mrs. Anna Mattson, whose $200,000 son was kidnapped in 1935, was the last one of nine cases of kidnapping in the United States. The lumber fortune heir was released unharmed after he ransom was paid and his three kidnappers now are serving long prison terms.

GERMANY WILL AVOID WAR IN SPAIN, MAYBE

"I have no time," said the archbishop. "I am the spokesman of the present place of the Christian religion in other countries. We know that Hitler's policy of aggression against Russia is being poisonously propagated by aggressive atheist and the dominant culture warfare of the nonChristian."

We must go to the frontiers of our country to defend our people. In other countries, they are more easily won and therefore more easily lost. We must be more alert, more watchful, more patriotic, or to say where the renders were set.

His comments came in the middle of a morning previously held by no development in the world excepting the meeting the boy had arranged with the Matson city estate was called shortly after dawn.

Killed By Jet

London, Dec. 28.—Henry Jennings, 62-year-old river, was killed when a jet of water issuing from a pipe burst through the floor to the inch thick stone. Verdict was the coroner's verdict.

His remains came in the middle of a morning previously held by no development in the world excepting the meeting the boy had arranged with the Matson city estate was called shortly after dawn.

HIGHER CATTLE PRICES SEEN

General market conditions would indicate higher cattle prices next spring, in the opinion of John J. O'Leary, general manager, Burns and Co., Ltd., who arrived here Monday to confer with the president of the Canadian Cattlemen's Association, and the manager of the Burns and Co., Ltd., Christian.

People Urged To Face Tasks

Using his banners to face life's tasks for themselves and for all their endeavors to God by prayer, Dr. Andrew R. Green, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, spoke to a group of 150 young men at First Presbyterian Church yesterday.

There is always a task to face, whether it be the parting of life or death, or the passing of things of the world.

The psalmist compares the passing of life to a shadow, and the world full of interest while it lasts, but ever drawing to its close. Shakespeare, in his play, "Julius Caesar," when the king compares life with a poor player, thus: "What art thou, that dost not脸 with shame to wear the livery of thy station?"

Yet, while this sadness is natural, it may become morbid and lead to despair if we do not remember the purpose of life.

The chief end of man is to glorify God and to enjoy him forever. This is the true end of creation, and the highest purpose of life.

It is the desire of all Christians to be conformed to the image of Christ.

PERENNIAL WHEAT DISCOVERED, OTTAWA TOLD

FOUR ONTARIO PEOPLE DROWN IN CAR LEAP

Woman, 42; Daughter, 19, Of Bowmansville, Among Lake Victims

BOWMANVILLE, Ont., Dec. 25.—Four people, three men and one woman, were drowned in Lake Ontario here early Sunday when they were trapped in their car as it plunged off the dock.

The drowning are: Mrs. Arthur Trimble, 42, widow of Marvin Trimble, 19, daughter of Mrs. Arthur Trimble; Everett Berry, 26, Kitchener, Ont.; and two sons, 27, Ortonville, Ontario.

Barnard, believed to have been driving the car, is thought to have attempted to turn it around on the wharf. Investigators believe he was unacquainted with the area and sped out over the pier.

Trimble, 19, car driver of the week, Jack Hall, riding his bicycle, noticed the marks and stopped to examine the surface of the water.

The machine stopped just 12 feet of where the bodies of the dead were found, indicated a desperate struggle to break out of the submerged car.

The bodies were recovered. The father had been returning from a Christmas party in Oshawa.

YULE DEATHS IN U.S. EQUAL TRAGIC FOURTH

Nearly 700 Lose Lives As Direct Result of Christmas Celebration

CHICAGO, Dec. 26.—The Christmas holiday rivaled the Fourth of July in the number of deaths. United States deaths neared the 700 mark today.

Automobiles accounted for the majority. But many forms of accidents contributed to the 696 deaths. Usual causes were a boon to motorists, who were held largely responsible for the carnage.

Deaths from falls, fire, train, airplane and even fireworks added to the toll. Deaths from disease and dependency also took lives.

In Massachusetts a boy was shot to death by his brother.

Four persons burned to death in Michigan. North Carolina and Florida reported the most deaths which attend observance of Christmas in the south.

California with 37,000 miles with 32,000 drivers, and Michigan, 26, led the 45 states which listed traffic deaths.

The northwest, where winter storms routed mild weather, had relatively few killed on the high ways.

SUPERIORITY OF RACE STIRS RUSS DEBATE

Political-Scientific Controversy Involves Anti-Marx Theory

MOSCOW, Dec. 26.—A political-scientific controversy between proponents and opponents of the theory that some races are superior to others has been re-awakened. Marxist doctrine rejects all racial distinctions in Moscow today.

It is the result of a recent congress of psychiatrists and followed suppression of a report to the congress by a scientist.

FASLE SCIENTIST

It was charged G. N. Kaminsky, commissioner of public health, has influenced the government to prevent circulation of an attack on Prof. Solomon Luria, 50, a Soviet scientist, who was removed from the Communist party and denounced as a "false scientist" by the official newspaper Pravda, because of the doctrine of racial superiority. Levit, head of the Mico-Geneva Institute and author of a book on racial differences in Russia, recently turned up a scientific article in which he accepted the "Facist" theory of race superiority.

AGAINST MARX

He was attacked because his views on racial differences determine the role of hereditary traits and biological explanations for race were contrary to Marxist doctrine.

Scientists meeting in the psychiatric section were told to accept and admire for such Facist racial nonsense.

Prof. Luria, a member of the Communist party, severely criticized Levit.

THE PÖPE'S WARNING

Insurgent planes and guns dropped bombs and shells on Manila, the capital of the Philippines, even though Pope Pius was pleading with the Catholic world for "Truth, Justice and brotherly love," the principles upon which depend the rights of the individual, the safety of the family and the security of human society.

The initiative lies with the attackers. They can't help it, the fighters throughout Christendom, or during the Pope's broadcast, had they chosen to do so. They preferred to go on killing women and children, as well as armed enemies. Not much regard for truth, justice or brotherly love.

The Spanish "are signs and portents of terribly evil which is being prepared for Europe and the whole world if they do not hasten to adopt the necessary remedies of defense"—the principles indicated. These are the words of a keen observer, and a competent judge, as well as of the Pope.

Who, recognizing the international forces that are making Spain a cockpit, can doubt the prediction? What is being done there will be done elsewhere if Communism and Fascism come to grips.

A MASTER OF ENGLISH
Arthur Brisbane had a host of admirers, a multitude of enviers, a goodly company of critics. The pity is he had so few imitators. He wrote first, all to, in English, and he was a master of language and easy style. Any one who could read English could read "Today" and know what its author meant.

He was accused of writing platitudes. At least he was not the platiest writer of words of any day, use, or value. He was not a man to do in conversation. It was objected that he did not dig in profundities; but hasn't some one said "Profundity is mud"? Many of the things he wrote were not pleasant to Canadian readers, but they never had to sift his language for its meaning.

That explains why millions read his column every day. They knew what the man was talking about, and what he was saying to them. The tire-labored, the fagged bewhife, and the brain-worn, had him as their confidant. In the evenings, without effort or fatigue. The newsreaders read it on the street corner, and picked up scraps of information he might not otherwise have found.

They esteemed his short-comings, and forgetting his association with Hearst, a man who knew how to use the English language has been lost to the world.

THE POWER TO SUPPRESS

Herr Goebel, Germany's minister of public ignorance, is expected to call on the license of the French government to publish all the published information that the country is short of a million tons of wheat. The paper did not publish the truth, but that it did.

It will be strange if the threat is not carried out. Such things follow naturally, almost inevitably, when newspapers are published only by consent of politicians and may be suppressed at their pleasure. The record in Italy and in Russia is proof that the semi-official press is as direly different from that which is common where an official censor has been given power of life and death over newspapers.

In all three countries the right to print and to read many, information and opinions is not allowed. In Germany, for instance, only a privilege conferred upon the nations by the rulers—which concession may be suspended at any time by rule of law. The public have in those countries no recognition of right to know the truth. They are only allowed to know it if and in so far as their masters wish.

Albertans will be interested in the fate of the Zeitung. It has been threatened to put the newsmen of this province also under license, for the same reason as the French.

With assurance, of course, that he would be a most considerate and fair-minded Posh Posh. Where in any country and in any age has a controlled press ever been used for any purpose but to put the public in ignorance?

WHERE SUICIDE IS EPIDEMIC

The cabinet of Austria has ordered a reduction in food prices—in hope that the financial inhabitants will stop committing suicide.

Austria is the horrible example of what war and un-economic nationalism" can do to a country. Austria "took the sword" in 1914 and "spared by the sword," in keeping with inspired prediction and the natural order of things. In the terms dictated by the nations she had plunged into hatred and strife, when formerly was a great nation was whittled down to a "pocket nation"—practically independent still in name.

Her great and beautiful capital was left to waste city without sufficient tributary country to support it. Deprived alike of the former sources of raw materials and the markets which compensated her for the industrial surplus were lost, with great areas of her farming lands went to other countries some of them new-born.

Post-war policies completed the war's disaster. Austria's neighbors surrounded her by hostile tariffs, thus preventing the circle of commercial activities. Foreign trade which was lost was lent to the devastated country by Britain and other compassionate states, in hope that the Austrians could work out for themselves some scheme of self-support. It was a mis-calulation. Austria has known no such thing as prosperity, or even tolerable conditions, since the straitening bonds were built around its borders.

Hence while the world celebrated the birth of the century, Austria was in the grip of the economic problems of Austria. Government's task was to keep its people from killing themselves rather than continue to endure semi-starvation. If Austria aimed steadily, she suffered a heavy penalty.

The patient of our country which completed the ruin of once powerful empire plunged its frontier and allies alike into the worst period of distress they have ever known. In the fate of Austria they may see what awaits all of them unless they return to economic sanity. No country can live like a hermit and live prosperously.

Hemorrhoids May Cause Nervousness

By DOCTOR FRANK MCCOY

A hemorrhoid is a swelling occurring in the rectal region produced by an unnatural stretching of a vein. Hemorrhoid is a combination of two words, "blood" plus "flow" and was applied to this type of swelling because of the fact that an occasional discharge of blood is one of the causes.

The word "varicose" refers to these swollen veins as piles which turn comes from a Latin word meaning "ball."

Hemorrhoids and other rectal irritations are responsible for a tremendous amount of suffering, not only in this local part, but in the influence these disorders may have upon the nervous system. There are few parts of the body where the nerves are so sensitive and from which so many reflex pains and irritations may arise.

The patient with protruding hemorrhoids is generally conscious of them as they cause considerable distress and are noticeable. However, in many cases the patient is not conscious of the condition of the patient and sometimes these small ones which are not inducing any conscious distress will bring about the more severe nervous symptoms. By reflex action they may have a definite effect upon one certain part of the body or they may affect the entire nervous system.

Beyond any question of a doubt, the presence of hemorrhoids must be considered one of the most important physical causes of nervousness.

Hemorrhoids may be described as varicose tumors which are closely related to the common veins, and constitute one of the most common of all rectal disorders. These veins enlarge because of some interference with the flow of blood away from the region which they serve.

These varicose veins seem especially likely to become large because they do not contain the usual valves which other veins contain to keep the blood flowing backward.

Some of the causes of hemorrhoids are: Sluggishness of the liver, prolapso, misplacement of the uterus, long continued sitting or standing, constipation, enlarged prostate, pregnancy, etc.

External hemorrhoids are usually caused by forceps, cathartics, or enemas. Internal hemorrhoids are covered with mucous membranes.

The symptoms arising from internal hemorrhoids vary according to their stage of development. In the first stage, the varicose tumors are larger and have stretched lengthwise, in such a way as to make them longer. They tend to grow and to do so slowly. Their elimination takes place but are readily returned.

In the third stage, they are still larger, protrude more frequently and may be troublesome to the patient walks or stands for any length of time. They may be malignant and may lead to cancer.

Internal hemorrhoids are covered with mucous membranes.

Patients are advised to seek medical advice.

It is understood that one negative has been located and confounded.

Gastritis is a progressive disease, the property of the system, and cannot be removed from him without due process of law. In this case the government is doubtless exercising his right of eminent domain, fearful lest the evidence of his guilt become more and more infamous, they become markedly sore and difficult to bear.

It is gratifying to know that the Royal Canadian Mounted Police have in hand the case of the government.

The Credit House has been replaced on the back lot of the lot and the Mounties are moving into the building.

It is to be hoped that the new building will be a credit to the city.

In tomorrow's article I will discuss the treatment of hemorrhoids.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION—Brundish wants to know: "Is the patient with secondary anemia likely to be under-weight or over-weight?"

ANSWER: The one who has this form of anemia is usually inclined to be over-weight, or at least to have a tendency to fatty tissue with a deficiency of good, firm muscular tissue.

MONEY SYSTEM ASSAILED BY SACRED PASTOR

Rev. E. G. Hamell, M.P., is Speaker at Prophetic Bible Conference

The existing monetary system has brought the world to the place where it is unable to distribute things that are good and useful, good. Rev. E. G. Hamell, M.P., for MacLeod declared on Sunday evening at the opening of the Alberta Prophetic Bible Conference at the Strand theatre on Sunday evening. He said that if the people behind Social Credit, the people would stand just as firmly and strongly as they had done when the monetary system was put into effect.

Social Credit, said Rev. Mr. Hamell, "is not a credit" and "is not more valuable to us issued by a responsible government than in the hands of a money institution that piles interest onto credit to make money for itself."

He said that Social Credit would be implemented more rapidly when the people stood more firmly.

"If ever a government needed the loyal support of the citizens' it is Social Credit," he said. "When it is about to put into operation some extent, what the people have done will cause you to stand behind Premier Aberhart in his advancing with a program to give dividends to the people."

Orville A. Kennedy, chairman of the meeting announced that there would be a public meeting of the North and South Saskatchewan constituents association in the Strand theatre on Tuesday, commencing at 2:30 p.m. on Tuesday.

FIVE FROM EACH

Registration would commence at 1:30 p.m. and the public would come from each constituency. From south of the Saskatchewan there were 100 registered, while the ridings of Leduc, Clover Bar, Victoria, Whitford, Vegreville, Alexander, and Cochrane, while from north of the river ridings represented would be Lac St. Anne, Stony Plain, Oldman, St. Albert, Sturgeon, Pembina, Athabasca, Beaver River, and St. Paul.

MANKIND MUST BRAVE FUTURE CLERIC STATES

Duty to Look Forward, Not Backward, Canon Pierce-Goulding Says

A willingness to bear oneself away from the fetters of the past and to brave the unknown experiences of the future is the only way for man kind to taste the joys of the coming Kingdom of God, stressed Canon Pierce-Goulding, rector of All Saints Cathedral during his last sermon of the dying year.

EVER TURN BACK

The unhappy life of Lot's wife, turned to a pillar of salt as a monument of her sins, is a warning to all that the moral of that mortal's individual incident is that "one must never turn back, for there is always a conflict between spiritual duty and physical obligation."

He urged the congregation to cease bemoaning the mistakes of the passing year and to resolve instead to do their best to remain exempt from the frailties and misdeeds that have stained the annuals of the past.

"There is not a congregation nor a church nor any nation that has not committed sins. We have not enough tears to turn a mountain into salt. There has been a loss of much that is good, but we are worse off, of course, than before. But what shall we do? We must turn our thoughts to the here and now, to the present, to the task which still the world have to pay its proportionate penalty too, unless it resolutely views the results of its entire achievement in advancement."

BETTER WORLD

He urged to look forward, not backwards, to work for a better world instead of bemoaning the mistakes of the past.

Attacking the "desolating soul" which cannot preserve the spirit of the past, Canon Pierce-Goulding warned that just as Lot had received her punishment for looking back, so would the world have to pay its proportionate penalty too, unless it resolutely views the results of its entire achievement in advancement.

AMUSEMENTS

EMPEROR

HOLLYWOOD, already the capitol of motion picture art, is also the capitol of the ascendancy of New York in the radio world, if not revealed during the last year, at least during the first half of 1936, the comedy spectacle now playing at the Empress theatre, the most popular radio station in the city.

Jack Berlin, who holds the contract for the Empress, has been in Hollywood for several months. He is under contract to Paramount for 10 more pictures. George Raft and Grae Allen, who also appear in the picture, have a contract with the radio station, as well as for other radio pictures. So has Bob Burns, the comedian.

It was pointed out that too much time is being lost by radio artists appearing in pictures, and rather than give up their lucrative radio programs many of them prefer to go to Hollywood.

It was pointed out that in this city, new, it is virtually the radio capital of the world, already.

WOULD PRESS FOR ALBERTA AIRMAIL LINE

Commissioners Recommend Tri-City Conference for Co-ordination

Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge must make a strong stand for the proposed intercity airmail route, in the opinion of city commissioners, and to that end they are recommending a conference of representatives from the three cities. The commissioners' representations may be made to the federal government in this connection.

Commissioners point out that Edmonton's delegates to the recent Pacific Northwest conference at Kamloops and conference at Fort Rae, were successful in persuading the route, touching the three Alberta cities, was the most feasible.

CONFIRMATION
The position of the minister now is that it would be necessary to involve the provinces in co-ordinating the part of the route between Calgary and Edmonton, as was being done by cities in Montana towards securing an airmail route from Montana through Alberta by way of the cities named to the north, commissioners said.

This recommendation will be considered by council at its regular meeting Monday night.

RELIEF ITEMS

Commissioners suggest that council enter into a formal committee deal with the questions of the work-stay scheme and the relief vegetable supply.

Mr. Blakely had submitted his resignation from the zoning appeal board to commissioners.

Accident Victim Is Now Improved

John L. Judge, who suffered a fractured skull when the automobile he was driving swerved off the road and hit a utility pole on the corner of 11th Avenue and 63rd Street on Christmas eve, was reported to be "improving" by hospital authorities Monday morning.

Skillful Piloting Averts
Crash on Landing in Teeth of Gale

Flying — Matt Berry, 35, yesterday, when he had to use his flashlight to see his instruments, landing in the teeth of a 50-mile gale that had blown his single-engine, winged monoplane up on its wing tip. Pilot A. Masie, Matt's son, 18, was flying with him.

He was one of epic flights of the north.

Having rescued two other flyers and three Eskimos children who were facing starvation in the isolated mission on the Hornaday river, 100 miles north of the Mackenzie River, Matt returned to Edmonton Sunday.

DIFFICULT CONDITIONS

"I was one of the most outstanding flyers in the north," W. R. "Wop" May, O.B.E., Canadian Airways superintendent of operations, said. "Matt faced conditions which were the most difficult any aviator has ever faced. He flew through a gale and he came through without a scratch. He is a wonderful pilot."

Pilot Berry had been able to land the monoplane on the Hornaday on December 8, a flight of 100 miles, 100 miles north of Barrow, for 1,500 pounds of food, then was held for 11 days at the Hornaday. Then he set out to return to trip to Akavik, although he was forced one earlier after his engine was forced to turn back.

MECHANIC PRAISED

Mechanic on the trip was Rex Terpening aged 23, whom the pilot described as "the best mechanic I ever had." Matt said, "and he certainly was fine on that flight."

He left Edmonton at 10:15 a.m. on December 8, the only clear day we had from that time on. Matt said, "We had to leave because the Hornaday was blowing like a gale, and we were nearly an hour in sun time, so that cut our flying time short."

CLEAR DAY

It was a clear day, with a brilliant clear sky, although there was no sun. It was fairly calm when we left but when we got to the Hornaday it was blowing a gale, although I understand is quite usual.

He leaves his wife, one daughter Shirley, his mother, Mrs. T. W. Higgins of Westville, two brothers Fred and Tom, and five sisters of Liverpool, England, and five sisters of Fredericton, N.B., and Mrs. E. G. Cole, both of Westville; and Mrs. J. H. Bell, of Liverpool.

The funeral will be held at McBride's chapel to the Edmonton cemetery. Rev. Canon C. F. A. Clough will officiate.

FLEW ALONG LANES

"From Akavik we flew along the Husky line. We hit the coast about as far as Liverpool Bay and then continued to peninsula. Franklin is about 50 miles from the Hornaday and the mission is about a good mile from the coast, split which forms an almost land-locked harbor.

There was no food for staples but they had no food for the dogs. To get food had to

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

With the festive season now in full swing and everyone, apparently, in fine fettle and thinking of entertainment, the Inquiring Reporter posed this question: What is your idea of a good time?

Good-living reply:

GEORGE ROBERTS, hotel clerk and waiter: Playing a game of bridge in 2 stories and getting off in the same day would give me a good time.

G. F. HUSTLER, teacher: Inviting girls, receiving entrees after playing the violin, avoidance of the Dewey Room, by striking him with his fist, following an order to make love to his girl.

EVIDENCE showed that Allen and his wife were engaged in a party in their rooms on December 18 and when the noise is alleged to have come from the room, he is said to have asked them to keep quiet.

It is alleged that Allen disregarded the warning so the following day he was asked to leave the premises. That was when he completed moving his furniture to the room of Mrs. Teba, who had walked up to Teba and struck him.

Monahan, driver of the truck, who was charged with striking Mrs. D. Teba, in the course of the fight, was released on bail, awaiting trial.

A remand until December 20, for trial, was given Charles Goldring, who pleaded guilty to a charge of assault.

MISS MADGE QUBING, waitress: Going places of interest such as dances, shows and hockey games.

Company I before I enjoy myself.

For cultural enjoyment I prefer Esquire.

NICK HALLOCK, waiter: That's a good question. There are thousands of ways to have a good time and I like all of them.

JAN COTE, out-of-towner: Either being with congenial friends or modern life far away into the peace and quiet of the woods and mountains. I like to go to strange places at strange times.

Heavy Mail Load

From Far North

A heavy load of mail from the Arctic and sub-Arctic arrived in Edmonton Saturday when the 18th annual trans-territorial relay started into the city carrying 75 red-and-white striped ticks of letter mail.

This was the first large mail

Thomas William Higginson, 52, of Edmonton, 86 street, well-known local merchant, died Saturday morning at 7 a.m. on December 26, the only clear day we had from that time on.

The Hornaday river is about 300 miles due east, which means it was blowing a gale, and he was nearly an hour in sun time, so that cut our flying time short.

LADIES AND CHILDREN OF THE JURY: YOU HAVE SEEN THE LITTLE PICTURE THAT FOR YOU A WORD PICTURE OF A COLD-BLOODED CRIME WHICH HE WOULD HAVE COMMITTED IF HE HAD BEEN TAKEN ON A CARD. TELL ME, PLEASE, IF HE'S A YOUNG MAN COM MITTED TO KILLING? A COMMON YOUNG MAN COULD NOT DO SOMETHING LIKE THIS. TELL ME, PLEASE, IF HE'S PLANNED KILLING? SO TRAINED INDEED, THAT HE COULD NOT POSSIBLY BE A CRIMINAL BY CHANCE OR BY SICKNESS—

AS A MATTER OF FACT, THE ACCUSED COMMITTED THIS GRIEVOUS CRIME ONLY CAUSE HE WAS DRIVEN TO IT BY THE SICKNESS WHICH HE HAS. THIS TRIAL BEGAN CHEERS—

SUPPOSE YOU WILL BE SURPRISED JUST WHAT THE DOCTOR TALKED WITH HIM. HE TALKED WITH HIM ABOUT THE MURDER.

The Holiday Mystery

Thunder Mesa, the de Forest lumber camp, was a scene of mystery ending when PEARL SAM DE FOREST, 21, was found dead with a knife in his throat. He had been found dead with a knife in his throat. He had been found dead with a knife in his throat. He had been found dead with a knife in his throat.

"What's the first name?" "Pearl." As a family they called him Pearl. His mother, Mrs. SAM DE FOREST, was a widow. She had two other children, PEARL JOHN, her youngest son, and MARY, her next. Others at the camp are DODGE, WELCH, and an invalid, BETTY WELCH, who is the daughter of GELIGUE ANGELIQUE; and ALFRED BOBB GRANGER, architect, who is staying at the lumber camp.

The body of Pearl Sam, placed in the snow, was discovered when Tante Josefine, in a hysterical manner, stopped at the lumber camp. The body of Pearl Sam, placed in the snow, was discovered when Tante Josefine, in a hysterical manner, stopped at the lumber camp.

Professor Shave tells Ramon that "when I was a boy I heard a story of an ancient Indian pueblo. Ramon, who was a bit green, though not quite green degree, said, "Pierre appeared in the doorway of his place at the head of the table, as though nothing had happened, in no way disturbed by anything that had happened. Damon, Vassar, and the others were seated only at Pearl Pierre and marveling at the cool composure with which he directed the service, serving the meal."

The old man, room, and Betty, looking very weary, came into the dining room. Bob and Betty, going to bed, fell in bed, and lay for a place next to his, and the conversation turned to the topic of normal. Only once did any one make any mention of the death of Tante Josefine. Pearl Pierre looked at Betty and asked her casually if smoke was still burning in the fireplace when she expect it would be when Tante as it did.

"Not all right now," Betty told him, and then resumed her conversation with Bob and nothing more was said about the smoke.

Ramon noticed that Angelique remained silent, and when she walked out of the room, and he heard her trying to perspire, he asked her to play a game of billiards with her.

"It's so good for you to relax for a few hours," she said. "I'm from the de Forest," she coaxed with her flashing smile. "We're hardly ever home for a week without us since I came. I'd love you to know better."

For a moment he hesitated, then said, "I'm not so good for you to play a game of billiards with her," and went to the billiard room and was soon engaged in a close battle with the girl, who was determined she could play at as well as she could play at love.

The professor had set her cap for the head of the family, doesn't he? Bob remarked to Betty when they were alone later. "What's she got up her sleeve?" I wonder. Ramon was high with her."

The torpedo that damaged the loyalist warship Almirante de Cervantes (right) at Cartagena may take its place among the shots heard around the world. Nearby at the time, say British reports, was the German destroyer Leopard (left), whose presence was held of potentially great significance, inasmuch as the torpedo was not of Spanish or Italian make.
